U. of Alabama Head to Talk to Students

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — President O. C. Carmichael of the University of Alabama meets his students face-to-face today for the first time since Autherine Lucy was driven from the campus Feb. 6.

Carmichael planned to speak at a student-faculty convocation, scheduled from Feb. 8, following the Birmingham Negro first of her race to attend the university. The president was scheduled to address two mid-day meetings. The convocation was divided into two groups because bad weather made it necessary to meet in the university auditorium, instead of the stadium.

Only outsiders permitted will be reporters.

Meanwhile, two Negro brothers who attacked a university student Tuesday night were charged with assault with intent to murder.

Circuit Solicitor Olin Zeane said Arthur Washington, a soldier on furlough, and his brother, John made statements that they attacked 19-year-old Samuel Perrin Taylor because of resentment over the Lucy case.

Zeane said the brothers were transferred from the Tuscaloosa city jail to the Greene County jail at Eutaw, Ala., about 18 miles away.

"I do not anticipate any trouble, but the transfer would eliminate any such possibility, since there is considerable tension in Tuscaloosa," the solicitor said.

Taylor, a slightly built Tuscaloosa freshman, was beaten and kicked. Both Negroes are in their 20's.

Jimmy Hall, a third Negro, was arrested as material witness.

Zeane said the brothers would be held for action of the Tuscaloosa grand jury, which meets March 1, unless they ask bond.

Three white persons charged with disorderly conduct in connection with the demonstrations Feb. 6, will be tried in Tuscaloosa city court after Feb. 29. They are Ed Watts, Earl Watts and Kenneth Thompson. Police said none is a student at the university.

They originally had been scheduled to be tried last Monday, but the cases were delayed until after the Federal Court hearing in Birmingham.

Miss Lucy, who had attended classes three days, was excluded on order of the board of trustees until further notice. The trustees said the order was for her own safety.

A mob which grew at times to an estimated 3,000 or more cursed and hurled stones and eggs at her and escorting school officials.

The attack of Taylor is the first physical violence aimed at a white person since the university campus became the scene of demonstrations protesting admittance.

Miss Lucy has asked a Federal Court order requiring school authorities to readmit her to classes. A hearing on the motion is set in Birmingham Feb. 29.

The 26-year-old Birmingham woman was admitted as a student Feb. 1, in obedience to a Federal Court order that she could not be barred from the university because of her race.

University attorneys have announced that this ruling is being appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court, but the pending action would not delay her return.

World Day of Prayer February 17

"One Flock, One Shepherd" will be the theme of World Day of Prayer program when the Hope unit of the United Church Women meets Friday, February 17, at 2:30 p. m. at the First Christian Church.

Mrs. Cline Franks, leader, will present Mrs. Haskell Jones who will tell what it is like to be a Migrant; Mrs. William Routon, Religious; Work Directors Report; Mrs. C. P. Tolleson, An Indian Prayer, and Christians Around the World, will be discussed by Mesdames Duffie Day Booth, James Miller, and Ernest Graham.

Mrs. B. L. Rettig will give the scripture and the Reverend William Harris the benediction.

Mrs. Lex Helms Jr., president of the local unit of United Church women urges all members of the council to attend this program and the social hour, which will follow immediately in Fellowship Hall of the Christian Church.

Election Fund Donations Aired in Closed Meet

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — A closed meeting of the Senate Elections subcommittee was called today to discuss a projected broad inquiry into campaign contributions in the wake of the national gas bill fight.

Chairman Gore (D-Tenn.) said he would recommend that the elections unit embark on an investigation into 'campaign contributions, federal elections and any evidence of corrupt practices which may be revealed.'

Gore said the inquiry he had in mind would be "far more" than any contributions of pressures involved in the natural gas bill and would "run through the year."

The gas bill, to exempt producers of natural gas from direct federal controls, was passed by the Senate last week amid complaints of pressure from both sides. It is now awaiting action by President Eisenhower.

A special committee, set up under the chairmanship of Sen. George (D-Ga.), spent the week-end investigating whether a $2,500 campaign contribution rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) was designed to influence his vote on the gas bill. Case voted against the bill after telling the Senate about the contribution offer.

George told newsmen he felt the special committee already had developed all the essential facts about this incident and added he knew of nothing at this time to justify asking the Senate to continue its inquiry or to enlarge its authority.

He said he had told Gore that "unless something of a startling nature occurs which I do not now foresee, I hope we can make a report to the Senate next week . . . and ask to be discharged."

Earlier, however, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said in a statement he thought the special committee should seek Senate authority to inquire into what he called "a great deal of pressure" on senators in connection with the gas bill.

The other Republican member of the committee, Sen. Thye of Minnesota, similarly has advocated that its scope be broadened to cover all contributions "having any possible relationship" to the gas bill. Thye voted against the bill.

But Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz.), the fourth member of the group, indicated he agreed with George that it ought not to go beyond the Case incident. Hayden voted for the bill, George against it.

Mother of Patmos Woman Dies at Benton

Mrs. Bertha Hepler, 84, died early Wednesday in a Benton hospital. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Alfred Vines of Patmos; a brother, Ernest Frazier of St. Petersburg, Fla.; a sister, Mrs. Charlie Bran of Green Castle, Ind.; four grandchildren, Mrs. William D. Billings of Hope; Mrs. Melton Brockman of Rosston; Mrs. Herman McKamie of Stamps; and Laverne Vines of Shreveport, La., also 5 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Baptist Church in Patmos with Bro. Floyd Clark officiating. Burial will be in Patmos cemetery.

Going Back to Visit Your Old College Is a Spiritual Ordeal — Many Landmarks Had Vanished

By HAL BOYLE
COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — I came again to the old white frame house a block off the University of Missouri campus and knocked at a well-remembered door.

The door opened, and I saw before me the same lady who had opened that same door to me when I had first knocked upon it a quarter of a century ago as a brash young student.

The graying lady looked hesitantly for a moment at the graying middle-aged man before her, and then her mind peeled away the ravaging changes time had made in him, and she said in a real pleased voice:

"Why, Harold!" and then I put my arms around her and pressed my face against her cheek—and knew myself at home.

Going back to the old college is a spiritual ordeal to any man. So many of the landmarks of his

Ozan Lbr. Co. Adds 2nd Shift at Prescott

Prescott will have 34 more people working today at 4 p. m. as this will be the first day Ozan Lumber Company starts their 2 shift operation.

Mr. J. R. Bemis, president of Ozan Lumber Company announced that 34 additional people will start to work on the second shift and by the middle of next week they will have an additional 30 men working, bringing the total of new employees for Prescott to 64 working people.

The people of Prescott can be proud of an organization such as Ozan Lumber Company, as they started operation in Prescott in 1929 with 5 people, this mill was a Corey tractor mill and 1930 was employing 8 people.

The Ozan sawmill burned in 1936 but was built back and has been in operation ever since.

The present employment of Ozan Lumber Company in Prescott not counting the logging operation is 210 people.

The Ozan has had sawmill operations at Artois & Posboro but have discontinued these operations due to mechanization of the Prescott operation.

Ozan has already gotten the floor plans on the new mill to be built in Prescott, and this mill will be one of the most efficient in the south.

The payroll for employment in Prescott for 1955 was $417,673.00, and when you figure that the money is turned over about five and one half times this caused $2,297,201.50 worth of business in Prescott last year from this organization.

We commend the people of Ozan Lumber Company for a job well done and wish them a lot of success in their operation in the future.

State Hospital Problems Studied

BENTON, (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus' request for "remedial action" in "numerous complaints" concerning administration of the State Hospital was expected to be taken up by the State Hospital Board here today.

ARKANSAS ELECTED
MEMPHIS (AP) — Max Roy of Forrest City, Ark., has been elected a vice president of the Mid-south Post graduate Medical Assembly.

He was selected at a meeting of the organization here yesterday.

No Date on Future Exam for President

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist who has been attending President Eisenhower, says no future date has been set for another examination of the President's heart.

Dr. White, back home after Tuesday's physical examination of the President, appeared last night on a closed-circuit television program beamed to audiences of doctors only in 58 American cities.

He told a news conference prior to the telecast that the six doctors attending the President have agreed not to elaborate on their Tuesday report which said Eisenhower "should be able to carry on an active life" as president "for another 5 or 10 years."

But, "without mentioning any names," Dr. White said some heart patients "not only can but should work. Many are unhappy if they are not working. Work is good treatment for some cardiac patients."

Wind Whisks Away a Man's Money

ONTARIO, Calif. (AP) — A gusty windstorm whisked $410 in currency from C. H. Chacon's automobile and blew it over a chain link fence surrounding a state prison.

Chacon had placed the money in the visor above the windshield.

In reporting the loss to police, Chacon said he spent several hours walking along the fence looking for the money and that he hesitated to climb over without permission.

Police Sgt. E. R. Holand and L. P. Patton of the staff of the California Institution for Men helped him look in the prison grounds. They found three $100 bills, five $20s and one $10 in the weeds and shrubs.

Hot Springs Hospital to Stay Open

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs will be operated at half-capacity on a permanent basis, the Defense Department has announced.

"It looks like we have won the fight to keep the hospital operating," said Sen. McClellan (D-Ark). McClellan, who has kept up a running battle with the Defense Department more than two years, was informed of the department's decision yesterday by Asst. Secretary of Defense Franklin G. Floete.

The Arkansas senator said that there still is a possibility that half of the building will be used to house the Army's Gulf Terminal Command. The Terminal Command, now stationed at New Orleans, supervises military shipping in the Gulf of Mexico area.

Floete and Dr. Frank B. Berry, assistant secretary of defense for health and medical facilities, said they would ask operating funds for the hospital for the 1956-57 fiscal year.

The hospital at present is using funds from a special provision that Congress put in an appropriation bill last summer. The special provision was authored by McClellan in a successful effort to prevent the department from closing the hospital.

The Defense Department decision apparently was a sudden one. A recent department report said there seemed to be little use for the hospital unless it might be desired as a headquarters for the Terminal Command.

Pine Bluff and several cities in other states are being considered as possible sites for the Terminal Command.

Veneral Disease Rate Climbs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas' venereal disease rate climbed almost 75 per cent in 1955, says the state Health Department.

Dr. J. Easley, assistant state health officer, reported the figures yesterday and attributed the rise primarily to a lack of control funds and expansion of military installations.

A Health Department report showed 5,072 new cases in 1955, compared to 2,912 in 1954.

The department now has $23,426 for venereal disease control, only a fraction of the $210,000 received from the federal government for that purpose in 1949-50. The last federal grant was $65,200 in the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Dr. Easley said the focal points of the disease were Pine Bluff, Little Rock, Camden, Fort Smith and Blytheville — all of which are adjacent to military installations.

Soviet Plan Revival of United Front

By JOHN HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet high command appears to be planning a revival of the "United front" technique to try to gain power and respectability for the Communist parties of Western European nations.

The technique—used with considerable success in the past—is the establishment of working arrangements between local Communist parties and such non-Communist groups as the Socialists.

U. S. officials think they see a tipoff to renewed emphasis of "United front" drives in the speech given by Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev to the party Congress now meeting in Moscow.

Another aspect of the speech which has aroused considerable interest here is its possible bearing on the fate of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Molotov said in a speech a year ago that only the foundations of socialism had been built in the Soviet Union. After he was officially criticized, he amended that he said Soviet Socialist that is, Communist society was already strongly developed in the Soviet Union. Molotov publicly confessed error.

Khrushchev, without naming Molotov, brought up his "erroneous" statement Tuesday and again denounced it as misleading. This renewed speculation that Molotov may be on the way out.

Methodist Women to Give Program

The members of the Spiritual Life Group of the Women's Society of Christian Service will present the entire program at the 'Week of Dedication Service' at the First Methodist Church at 7 p. m., Friday, February 17th.

The program will be under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Ward. The program is as follows:

Prayer — Mrs. Claud Tillery
Introduction: "What Does Prayer Accomplish?" — Mrs. Edwin Ward

"What Does Prayer Accomplish in the Family Circle and in the Local Church?" — Mrs. Jolly Byers

"What Does Prayer Accomplish in the Work of Missions? In a War Cursed World?" — Mrs. C. V. Nunn Sr.

Mrs. B. C. Hyatt will act as organist, and Rev. Virgil Keely will issue the Invitation to Re-Dedication at the Lighted Cross Service that will conclude the program.

Congress Told Air Arm Needs $3 Billion More

By CHARLES CORDDRY

WASHINGTON (UP) — Trevor Gardner, who quit a high Air Force post in a row over defense economics, has told Congress the air arm needs $3.5 billion more than requested by the Eisenhower administration.

It was learned today that the resigned assistant air secretary told a secret House committee Monday the Air Force should have $20 billion in new money for the year starting July 1. President Eisenhower is asking for $16.5 billion.

Gardner, who was in charge of Air Force research until his Feb. 8 resignation, is scheduled to testify similarly tomorrow to a subcommittee of the joint congressional Atomic Energy committee, headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), persistent critic of GOP defense policies.

The former air aides testimony could have explosive results. Any such sum as he proposes would wreck the administration's delicately balanced federal budget, which is estimated to show only a $400 million surplus in fiscal 1957.

Flood Debris Cleaned Up at Hot Springs

By The Associated Press

The debris which marked the destructive path of a flash flood through the business district of Hot Springs was cleaned up today, as the merchants counted their loss at nearly a million dollars.

Acting swiftly on the heels of the flood, the federal small business Administration last night declared Garland County and three counties which were buffeted by severe winds Wednesday night as official disaster areas.

The designation will allow businessmen and home owners to obtain low-interest government loans to rebuild property shattered by storm.

Included with Garland County in the disaster area are Conway, Cleburn and Independence counties, which bore the brunt of the tornado winds. Many farm homes and buildings were destroyed and one farmer was killed. The victim was Verne Ashford, 67, who lived in Conway County.

One person also was killed in the Garland County flood. Mrs. Hollie Barker, 38-year-old resident of Nome, Alaska, drowned when she was washed from atop a car on which she had sought refuge. She and her husband, who escaped, were camped near Hot Springs when the flood cascaded on their auto, in which they were asleep.

Barker survived by grabbing a limb on a nearby tree when the flood covered the car.

Most of the water poured down on Central avenue, the main thoroughfare of Hot Springs' business district. Floating timbers jammed a key storm sewer, backing the water into most of the business houses along the street.

Damage estimates ranged from a "conservative $250,000" by a Hot Springs insurance executive, to a million dollars by radio station manager Gus Dickson, who polled the stricken merchants.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock said a squall line which moved into Arkansas ahead of a cold wave caused both the flash flood and the wind storms.

Temperatures dropped last night to near freezing marks, ending a short respite from winter weather.

Except for Hot Springs, only Walnut Ridge reported heavy rainfall yesterday. The northeast Arkansas city reported 1.24 inches.

European Cold Worst in History

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP) — Raging floods and a new cold wave struck much of Europe and parts of the Middle East today, piling misery on misery in a 17-day freeze-up which already has cost 568 lives.

Torrential rains and melting snows brought Turkey new disasters of the worst winter on record. The known dead there totaled 72.

Ice jams and a brief thaw sent the Rhine and scores of rivers rampaging over their banks in central Europe.

Yugoslavia estimated its flood damage from the Strumica River alone at a million dollars.

The Netherlands reported the coldest since 1942, with temperatures down to 13 below zero. Even sunny Spain froze up again after warmer weather yesterday.

Behind the cold wave lurked the specter of famine. Crop losses already ran into millions of dollars.

Bank of England Raises Rates

LONDON (AP) — The Bank of England raised its interest rate for lending money to its highest level in 24 years — 5½ per cent — in a drastic new move to stem Britain's rising inflation.

The increase — one per cent — will have worldwide repercussions since the Bank of England is the keystone financial institution of the sterling area.

The rate increase was ordered by the new chancellor of the exchequer, Harold Macmillan. Some such move had been expected for weeks following a series of adverse trade figures and sharp criticism of Prime Minister Eden's government because it had failed to halt rising prices at home.

The bank rate increase makes money more difficult to get and cuts down non spending.

Civil Defense Conference Underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — The third annual Washington Conference of Mayors, held under White House auspices, opened today with the emphasis on civil defense.

About 200 chief executives of American cities took part in the conference. Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson, directing it, said they will be in the front line of defense if another war comes.

Peterson told a news conference it is likely a number of American cities would be hit simultaneously by atomic weapons in such a war. So, he said, the mayors must be given the fullest possible information to guide them. This includes, Peterson said, such things as the latest information on the foreign situation and... latest enemy weapons.

A number of top officials are briefing the mayors.

Some sessions are held behind closed doors in order, Peterson said, to permit complete freedom of discussion.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York and John B. Haynes of Boston look part in the news conference with Peterson.

Wagner said civil defense is being studied increasingly as a regional rather than a municipal problem.

Haynes said the mayors want to talk over such problems as urban redevelopment in addition to civil defense and related matters.

Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. told the mayors the United States will "persevere" in efforts to settle disputes with Russia "despite the disappointing results so far."

Younger Men to Be Drafted by Armed Services

OT WASHINGTON, (UP) — The White House announced today that Selective Service will begin to draft younger men into the armed forces.

It made public an executive order, signed by President Eisenhower, scrapping the former system of taking the oldest draft-eligible men first and working down.

The new plan does change the present 18 to 35 draft age limit. But it puts those in the age group of 25 down through 18, who are not fathers, at the top of the list to be called first. The oldest in the group would be called first.

A spokesman for selective Service estimated there are about 1,347,000 young men in this bracket.

The second category of men to be called consists of those 25 down through 19 who are

Over the years Mrs. Tydings and her husband, Dr. Tydings, a dentist, now dead, must have sheltered and fed a hundred or more students—and lost a lot of money doing it.

"I just don't know how many boys have stayed with us," she said.

"I've never bothered to count them."

"How do the college boys of today compare to those who were in school when I was here?" I asked, rather hoping I must admit for a bit of personal recognition.

"Why, Harold," said Mrs. Tydings, "there's been a wonderful change. Maybe I am just getting more tolerant, but I do think the boys today are better behaved around the house."

"They aren't quite so boisterous. They seem to study harder, and I do believe they go to church more often."

Somewhat crestfallen, I mumbled, "Excuse me," and started for the stairs.

Without glancing up from the sink Mrs. Tydings said, "The bathrooms in the same place, Harold." But it wasn't the bathroom I was seeking. It was my old room. It had changed less than I. The February sun threw slanting warmth at the old desk where I had once studied. What a wonderful room it had been, and what wonderful roommates I had known there! Among them were John Keats, Samuel Johnson, Jonathan Swift, Thomas Hardy, and a lady named Emily Dickinson.

I walked back downstairs, slowly leaving their ghosts behind to leer other boys.

Mrs. Tydings gave me stay for an old-fashioned chicken dinner. "I don't make gravy so much anymore now that everyone's on a diet," she said. During the meal she filled me in with what had happened to her foster sons. Some had become well-known lawyers, engineers and farm leaders. One, who used to wash dishes to pay for his meals, had run for governor.

"Many of them wrote me often, she said gently, and I felt that I haven't written her."

Mrs. Tydings, who will be 75 next summer, still rooms six college boys but no longer feels up to the chore of cooking for them. But she has to feed something so she keeps two feeding stations for birds. She went to the window to show me one, and there was a flash of feathered fire as a redbird flew away.

"Some flickers and cardinals and chickadees come," said Mrs. Tydings, "but I do wish I had a bluebird. They're so pretty."

But Mrs. Tydings doesn't really need a bluebird. She has had one in her heart all her long busy life spent mostly in being kind to others.

Phippoorwill do not make nests but lay their eggs on bare ground or among accumulations of leaves.

Theater Men View New Fox 55mm. Movie

A demonstration of 20th Century-Fox company's new 55-millimeter motion picture process was seen in Little Rock Monday by Henry Seamans, manager of the Saenger, Rialto and Hope Drive-in theaters.

Excerpts from the only two pictures thus far produced in the new size film, Hollywood versions of the great stage musicals "Carousel" and "The King and I," were a definite improvement over present-day Cinemascope, Mr. Seamans reported. He said the 55mm. process made a picture that was sharp to the very corner of the screen, and also gave a greater illusion of depth.

The 20th Century-Fox company, developers of the original Cinemascope, are shooting the new films on 55mm. negative and then compressing it to the regular 35mm. Positive film for projection in motion picture theaters. It is the production company's idea that using the larger negative in actual photographing of the movie set gives greater detail in the projected picture, and makes possible the accurate presentation on the movie screen of the largest stage productions—and Mr. Seamans said this was true, based on what he saw at the Capitol theater in Little Rock Monday morning.

There were 75 Arkansas exhibitors in attendance at Monday's demonstration. They were told that 1956 will see more big film productions in movie houses than in any of the past five years. Metro-Goldwyn-Meyer has budgeted 100 million dollars for 1956 production, 20th Century-Fox 70 millions, and Paramount more than 50 millions, Mr. Seamans said he learned at the Little Rock meeting.

Pentagon to Cooperate, McClellan Says

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today the Pentagon has agreed under production to cooperate, "to the limit" in an investigation of free world trade with Russia.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee he heads promptly called as a witness John Williams, a civilian machine tools specialist, in its scrutiny of the causes, effects and scope of U. S. agreement to a relaxation of the causes, to Western trade with the Soviets. Ohio industrialist Ralph R. Baldenhofer testified yesterday that he and Williams protested in vain last spring against removal of embargoes on Western Allies' sales to Russia of machine tools he said could be used to produce "the most modern" of weapons.

"Far better to give them Russia the planes, munitions and, yet, even guided missiles," Baldenhofer exclaimed. A guided missile, he said, can be shot only once, but the tools in question could be used to produce many missiles "for years and years and years."

He named no names but said the State Department argued that the precision tools he and Williams said should not be sold to Russia also "could be used for peaceful purposes" and that "therefore they saw no harm in shipping them."

Baldenhofer then was a machine tools specialist on loan to the Commerce Department by the Navy, which he serves as a consultant. He is executive vice president of the Thompson Grinding Machinery Co., Springfield, Ohio.

McClellan contends government officials have tried to block his search into the story behind U. S. agreement to the easing of curbs on Western trade with Russia. Administration officials have said a

"net advantage" to the free world resulted from the move. Baldenhofer testified that a month after the curbs were eased in 1954 Britain accepted orders from Russia for six milling machines which he said could be used to build "a base of machine tools" for war plants. He said one of the machines has been delivered to Russia.

As the reduced list of embargoed machine tool items stands now, Baldenhofer said, it "is not worth the paper it is written on, if you want to bypass it."

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Must Do Her Share to Make Date a Success

Dear Miss Dix: Shortly after I graduated from high school, where I was a popular participant in all activities, my family moved a few hundred miles away. Now I attend secretarial school and have a part-time job. My trouble is that I can't begin to get a foothold in the social life of this community. I have tried everything. I bowl, sing in the church choir, enjoy music, dramatics, sports and dancing. I am almost 20 and getting a bit discouraged spending every Saturday night with my family.

Occasionally I have a date but I don't seem to have met the right fellow. My single girl friends all have steady, people in the various groups I have joined are either married or too young, and I seem to be in a blind alley. The dates I have had weren't too interesting so I didn't encourage them. Maybe I'm too particular. Have you any suggestions? W. F.

Answer: The only reason I can see for your lack of friendships is that you are not doing your share. You must be a part of the social life of the community. You must be a part of the social life of the community. You must be a part of the social life of the community.

among so many groups is that you're too selective. Suppose you do get out with people — girls or boys — a bit younger? They may have older brothers.

Don't discourage the dates you get, even if they're not up to your standard. It's up to you to help make an evening interesting. Don't leave it all to your escort. By trying to be entertaining and enthusiastic you may get your companion to blossom out amazingly. Most men do need encouragement; if you're a dud on a date, you can be sure the man will be too.

Are You Patronizing?
Could it be that you regard the people of your new community a little patronizingly? That is often a reaction in one moving from a large community to a smaller one. I'd say the best quality for you to develop is enthusiasm. Use it and you're bound to get corresponding results.

Plan a vacation this year at a place where you know young people congregate. But do work harder at meeting your social needs close to home. Enter into things wholeheartedly and people will respond to your personality and talents.

Dear Miss Dix: I'm a young widow in my early twenties, about to be married again. My fiancé recently went overseas and since he's been gone I've been dating a married man. I'm sure he likes me and I know I love him. Should I go through with my proposed marriage, or go on loving in vain?

Answer: Are you following the popular, though inaccurate, practice of using "widow" as a nice-nelly word for "divorcee"? Your present conduct seems to indicate it.

Out of consideration for your fiancé, whom you give only disloyalty, I think loving in vain is a very good avocation for you. Perhaps when it begins to pall, you'll realize that two-timers never come out on top.

Dear Miss Dix: My problem is sort of complicated. I like a 24-year-old man who is unhappily married. Because I keep my car where he works, I can't help but see him every day. I can't get him out of my mind. How can I remedy this situation? E. L.

Answer: Move the car or take the bus to work.

Everyone Is Happy About E's Condition

JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Joyful Republicans predict that yesterday's surprising medical report will convince President Eisenhower he will run again.

Democrats voiced gratification at the extent of Eisenhower's recovery. A few of them maintained they will say "no" to a second term.

Paul Dudley White, chief of staff on the case since Eisenhower's Sept. 24 heart attack, said and five other physicians believe Eisenhower should be able to carry on in the presidency "for five to 10 years."

"Like all Americans," said Delbert Stevenson, "I am of course delighted at the favorable report of the condition of the President's health."

Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic floor leader, said in a statement dictated from his home in Texas:

"As a fellow human being who has gone through the same thing, I am very pleased that the medical report is so favorable. I believe every American will be happy."

Johnson suffered a heart attack in July.

Los Angeles and San Francisco stock exchanges—the only ones still operating at the time of announcement yesterday—were closed by buying orders.

Sen. Duff (R-Pa.) said he feels confident "the President will be a candidate again in order that he may continue the program he has so magnificently begun."

Sen. Allott (R-Colo.) said, "We all thank the good Lord that he has answered the prayer of the people and has given the President."

PRESCOTT NEWS

Mrs. Charles Brown Complimented
Mrs. Charles Brown of Marshall, Texas was complimented with a dent opportunity to be of further service to his country."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) said he felt all along Eisenhower would run again "unless the doctors told him not to."

surprise pink and blue shower given by Mrs. Carol Lambert and Mrs. Curtis Johnson on Saturday afternoon in the Lambert home.

Potted plants decorated the rooms. The honoree's chair was marked with a large pink bow and an appropriate corsage.

After games were played, Mrs. Brown was presented her lovely gifts in a bassinet decorated in pink and blue.

A dainty dessert course in the pink and blue motif was served to 15 guests.

A Tribute—To Our Ministers!

Each Sunday and oftentimes throughout the week, the minister of your church lifts his head in prayer and envisions the heaven of your faith. He is a patient man. He is an understanding man. He's there, your loyal friend, in sickness, sorrow. He officiates at weddings and visits the homes of his parishioners. Yet with all his biblical knowledge and his interest in his sermons, he is a man. A fine man. And he should be treated as a friend and companion, not merely as a cleric. Your minister and his church deserve all the support you can give them. Attend services regularly and be generous with your contributions.

At left, the striking effect of Chilean Nitrate side-dressing on corn. Chilean is the only natural combination of nitrate nitrogen, sodium and minor "insurance" elements.

EXTRA GOOD NATURAL

CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE

Whatever the crop—corn, cotton, tobacco, pastures, small grains, fruits, vegetables—Chilean Soda top-dressings and side-dressings give the best results, lowest costs, largest net profits.

Natural Chilean works fast. Corn responds bountifully at rates up to 500 pounds per acre or more, 40 to 50 days after planting. The nitrogen in Chilean is 100 per cent fast-acting nitrate—unavailable at the critical stage of crop development.

Natural Chilean boosts yields. On cotton, side-dressings of 300 pounds or more, 35 to 40 days after planting, produce heavy-yielding, early-maturing plants. On pastures, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia forms of nitrogen.

Natural Chilean contains sodium. Ammonia nitrogen is acid-forming and must be changed to the nitrate form in the soil, but every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone for destroying soil acidity.

Natural Chilean benefits crop and soil. Because it corrects acidity, improves potash, phosphate and minor element availabilities, Chilean is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for side-dressing summer crops. Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the bulldog on the bag.

Mrs. H. D. Bullock Honored
Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cox honored their Aunt, Mrs. (H. D.) Pearl Baker Bullock, with a birthday dinner in their country home Sunday February 12th.

The dining table was centered with a beautiful white and red cake decorated with red radiance roses and was specially prepared for her by her daughter, Mrs. I. T. Westmoreland.

Places were marked for the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Westmoreland of Little Rock, Mrs. James H. Stephenson and Sara Ann of Little Rock, Mrs. C. W. Buchanan Mildred Buchanan, Marcelle, Butch and Candy Cox and the hosts.

Sara Ann, Mildred and Marcelle sang "Happy Birthday and presented the honoree with a gift of linen. Mrs. Bullock wished everyone health and happiness as she blew out her 80th birthday.

It was noted worthy that the dinner took place at the old home stead where she came from Haynesville, La., with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Baker, when she was 10 years old.

Mrs. Thelma Garland Cruse of Little Rock, a childhood friend of Mrs. Westmoreland, sent flowers for the occasion.

Darrell Wilson, student at the U. of A. Fayetteville spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. James Howell and son, Jimmy, of Little Rock were the weekend guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Murry and her grand mother, Mrs. H. D. Bullock.

MEAT MAKES THE MEAL

Why not buy a ham that has already been cooked. Regular hams shrink about 20-25 per cent when cooked. These hams have been cooked to a peak of perfection, and there is no shrinkage. Just serve them as they are.

Lincoln Was Presented in Fine Fashion

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The character television on the recent anniversary of his birth. Over a period of a few days there were at least six dramatic programs which dealt with various aspects of the life of the man whom history designates as perhaps the greatest American.

Only one was eminently successful, and his interestingly, was a film and does not qualify as live television art. Yet it was filmed for Omnibus (CBS-TV), and the mass of us viewers are more interested in the results seen on the TV set than in what technique achieved it. Furthermore, it was an edited version of a series of films on Lincoln written by the late James Agee, which Omnibus presented last year.

But it was great television because it communicated simply, dramatically and with intellectual acumen, some of the complexity that made Lincoln the man he became.

Lincoln cannot be separated from his times. The American people destroyed him. Then great was him. In a sense the American people destroyed him. Then great was his grief, even to this day. This is the classical form of epic drama. It makes Lincoln our greatest, and perhaps our only, epic hero.

The Omnibus production showed Lincoln, superbly played by Royal Dano, first on the day of his death. His death scene was played with moving restraint. Then came the slow, impressive march of his funeral train back to Springfield, followed by dramatic, revealing glimpses to his youth and young adulthood in which we saw the formation of his later character.

Not an extraordinary concept, but it resulted in revealing insight into Lincoln and his times. For him can do what live TV cannot: it can put us in touch with the feel and the sight of earth. The confinement of walls is probably the greatest confinement of live television drama. In the filmed Omnibus production we went to the frontier. We heard crows, roosters, loons, owls and song sparrows. We saw spring and autumn and the people who lived with Lincoln in those springs and autumns of his youth. In short, we saw the man Lincoln with perspective and not simply as a figure on the stage.

Lent Signals End to Merry Making

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Church bells sounded the beginning of Lent today as New Orleans cleaned up confetti and beer cans after one of its most colorful Mardi Gras celebrations.

Thousands of tourists jammed into the city to see Rex, Lord of Misrule, hold sway in a realm of daytime merrymaking and Comus, God of Revelry, rule over a night kingdom of torchlit parades and fancy dress balls.

The celebration started at dawn when the first maskers appeared on the streets, continued as its high pitch as Zulu, King of the Negroes, departed from a barge at the foot of Canal Street, and reached a frenzied climax with the big Rex and Comus parades.

The United Nations says there are 595 medical schools in 85 countries with total graduates between 50,000 and 60,000 a year.

GUIDED MISSILE GETS WHEELS—Navy's guided missile "Regulus" has been outfitted with a wheeled cart so it can be used on a ship's catapult. The cart replaces the old combination of portable launching platform and jet-assist take-off bottles. How it works is shown in this sequence of pictures taken by the Navy aboard the carrier Hancock somewhere off the California coast. Regulus is placed on the cart, top photo. Center photo shows it being launched by the ship's steam catapult. Regulus leaves ship in bottom photo. Cart is jettisoned when the missile is aloft.

Just a Corpse at Twilight

By Robert Martin

CHAPTER XXVIII

Van Horn was unbaiting Frank Osborn's shirt. "It's the lungs we want," he said to Dr. Martingale, "and the heart and perhaps the brain. The big scalpel first, please. Prepare to take notes."

Dr. Martingale handed him a sharp glittering instrument, and then stood poised with a pad of paper and a pencil. Johnson, the caretaker, stood at my right, watching silently.

Van Horn began to speak slowly and distinctly. "The body is that of an adult male. It is quite short, being slightly over five feet in length—we'll check that later. It has been embalmed in the right axillary region and is located in the left upper abdominal area. It is amazingly well preserved. The face reveals the application of cosmetics, presumably in preparation for burial. The forehead, temples and cheeks reveal some discoloration. The hair is black and quite long and loose."

I listened like a man in a dream to Dr. Van Horn's guttural flat dictation. Dr. Martingale wrote rapidly on the pad. The sun was low, almost gone. Soon it would be dark, with the swift darkness that comes to the hills. A brief twilight, and then blackness. I hoped Dr. Van Horn would be finished soon, but I knew it wasn't over yet, not for a while. He hadn't used the scalpel yet, and he'd want the body out of the casket for that.

Dr. Van Horn's impersonal voice went on. "The skin of the fingers and hands is easily denuded. The fingers show some wasting, although there is no marked clubbing." Van Horn paused and turned away from the casket.

"Jerry, we'd better get him out now and remove his clothes. Help me." He peered over my head at the caretaker. "Will you get those supports and planks, please?"

"They're right here," Johnson moved quickly, set up to saw-horses and placed three broad wooden planks across them. "There you are," He stepped back. "Thank you," Van Horn said.

Dr. Martingale laid his notebook and pencil on the grass and stepped to the side of the casket. Gently the two men lifted the slight body to the planks. Van Horn removed the clothes he'd unbuttoned and laid them carefully on the edge of the casket. Frank Osborn's body was white and thin, like the body of a starved child. Van Horn picked up the scalpel. "Jerry, take this down before I start. Then I'll dictate as we go along. Ready?"

"Yep," Dr. Martingale stood beside him, his pencil poised. Van Horn spoke quickly in a toneless voice, as if he were repeating from memory, which he probably was. "The body is opened

Nixon Denies Calling Harry a Traitor

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Nixon claims a "magnificent record" for the first three years of "which all of us hope will be eight years of the Eisenhower administration."

Nixon told the National Republican Club in a Lincoln Day speech last night:

Our Republican administration is now proving, for the first time in nearly 30 years, that we can have prosperity without war; full employment outside of uniform, and security with regimentation and controls."

Speaking at the club's 70th annual Lincoln Day Dinner, he said the greatest advances in the nation to end racial discrimination "since the emancipation proclamation itself" have been made during the Eisenhower administration.

Nixon's speech contained barbs for three Democratic presidential nominee possibilities — Adlai E. Stevenson, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

As he arrived here by plane from Washington late yesterday, Nixon denied he ever had called former President Harry S. Truman a "traitor," as Truman had complained.

"I did not call Mr. Truman a traitor — absolutely not," Nixon told newsmen. Nor did he call the Democratic party "the party of treason" or question the loyalty of any of its members, Nixon added.

"I have always said that there is only one party for treason in the United States, and that is the Communist party," he said.

"In all my public speeches and private talks I have always said that the loyalty of Truman, Stevenson and all the leaders of the Democratic party should not be questioned — only their judgment. The Alger Hiss case speaks for itself. Mr. Truman called it a red herring."

Up until the airport interview, Nixon had kept silent publicly on the political controversy stirred up by Truman's recent accusations that Nixon called him a traitor in 1952 campaign talks "all over the West." Leaders of the Republican party had denied this.

Nixon declined to speculate at his news conference on whether President Eisenhower will run again. He said, however, that "the optimism is higher now than at any other time."

Young people are more often subject to headaches caused by vision difficulties than are older people.

by to curved incisions extending from the acromioclavicular articulation to the pubic spines. The entire anterior flap is elevated and the viscera inspected. He paused and peered at the young doctor, smiling faintly. "Did you get those big words, Jerry?"

"Sure I know 'em from memor Standard autopsy procedure."

"Good boy," Van Horn granted.

I figured it was a good time to leave and I said, "The sun will be down in a few minutes. I'll get the lantern." I started down the slope toward the car and it was then I heard the roar of a car coming up the cemetery drive. I stopped and waited.

In a second Sheriff Abner Cornwallis' automobile bounced over the crest of the slope and rocked to a squealing stop behind Dr. Van Horn's car. The sheriff got out, slammed the door and strode toward me. In the slanting sun his eyes looked like red marbles. Behind him Horace, the deputy, got out from behind the wheel and stood watching. The sheriff stopped five feet away from me, but I could smell the rich fumes of his sundowners. A gun belt slanted over his lean hips beneath his loose seersucker coat. "Bennett," he snarled, "I warned you—"

"Shut up," I told him. "Keep out of this. Who are you doing here, anyhow? I told you it was scheduled for tomorrow."

"Tricked me," he cried shrilly. "A double-cross, but I nabbed you. Fellow works for the cemetery was having his supper in Beech Tree. He tipped me off. He told me what was going on out here, and I aim to stop it." He glared at me.

"You can't stop it." From the corner of an eye I saw that the two doctors were watching us silently, and I motioned to them. "Go ahead."

The sheriff waved an arm wildly toward the open grave and the pale slight body of Frank Osborn. "Tell 'em to stop, right now! You gotta put Frank back in his grave, where he belongs. It ain't legal, and I'm the law here, don't forget that."

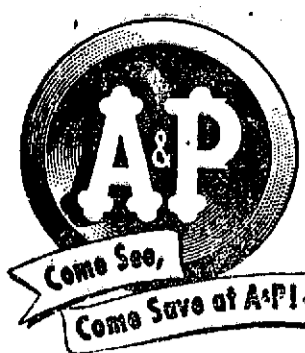

"It's legal," I told him, "and were going to do it."

Dr. Van Horn's guttural voice called to me. "What is the meaning of this, Bennett? You said that all arrangements had been made."

"They have," I said, without taking my gaze from the sheriff. "This is just a slight technicality and I can handle it. Please proceed." As I spoke I saw that the sun was gone now, buried beyond the woods in the west. Already it was cool and abruptly it was twilight in the hills, and soon it would be black dark. But there was still light enough for me to see the rage in the sheriff's eyes.

"Bennett," he grated, "I hate to do this, but there ain't any choice. His right hand reached back for the holster at his hip.
